

California's Fuel Supply IS UNDER STRAIN

California is already losing two oil refineries — an 18% reduction of in-state gas production. Less fuel made here at home means tighter supply across the state.

When supply tightens,
Californians feel it at the pump.

Means For You.

CAN IT GET WORSE? YES.

New proposed rules from the state Air Board threaten to shut down even more refineries.

These decisions aren't coming from elected leaders. They're being made by unelected regulators.

Less refining

Tighter supply

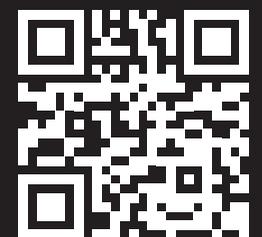

More risk at the pump

Less refining means tighter supply — and tighter supply puts upward pressure on gas prices.

THIS DOESN'T HAVE TO HAPPEN
Stand up.
Take action.

Tell state leaders to fix the rules, keep California refineries open, and protect our fuel supply — now.
